Section 1 - Background

Discovered and claimed for Spain in 1499, Aruba was acquired by the Dutch in 1636. The island's economy has been dominated by three main industries. A 19th century gold rush was followed by prosperity brought on by the opening in 1924 of an oil refinery. The last decades of the 20th century saw a boom in the tourism industry. Aruba seceded from the Netherlands Antilles in 1986 and became a separate, autonomous member of the Kingdom of the Netherlands. Movement toward full independence was halted at Aruba's request in 1990.

Section 2 - Anti – Money Laundering / Terrorist Financing

FATF status

Aruba is not on the FATF List of Countries that have been identified as having strategic AML deficiencies

Compliance with FATF Recommendations

The last Mutual Evaluation Report relating to the implementation of anti-money laundering and counter-terrorist financing standards in Aruba was undertaken by the Financial Action Task Force (FATF) in 2009. According to that Evaluation, Aruba was deemed Compliant for 2 and Largely Compliant for 7 of the FATF 40 + 9 Recommendations. It was Partially Compliant or Non-Compliant for 4 of the 6 Core Recommendations.

Key Findings from latest Mutual Evaluation follow-up (2014)

In February 2014, the FATF recognised that Aruba had made significant progress in addressing the deficiencies identified in the 2009 mutual evaluation report and could be removed from the regular follow-up process.

Key measures that have been taken by Aruba are:

- Amending the Criminal Code to designate terrorist financing as an independent offence.
- Enacting the State Ordinance for the Prevention and Combat of Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing (AML/CFT State Ordinance). The AML/CFT State Ordinance remedies many important deficiencies and inconsistencies identified during the 2009 assessment in relation to preventive measures and the allocation of supervisory duties of the Central Bank of Aruba and the financial intelligence unit of Aruba, the Meldpunt Ongebruikelijke Transacties.
- Regulating the freezing of funds and other assets of persons and institutions deemed to be related to terrorism and terrorist financing through the introduction of the State Decree Combating Terrorism and Terrorist Financing.
- Adopting State Ordinances, Decrees, Ministerial Regulations, and other mechanisms to implement the obligations set out in the AML/CFT State Ordinance and the State Decree Combating Terrorism and Terrorist Financing.
- Conducting an AML/CFT National Risk Assessment.

Aruba is categorised by the US State Department as a Country/Jurisdictions of Primary Concern in respect of Money Laundering and Financial Crimes.

OVERVIEW

Aruba is an autonomous country within the Kingdom of the Netherlands. The kingdom retains responsibility for foreign policy and defense, including signing international conventions. The kingdom may extend international conventions to the autonomous countries. With the kingdom's agreement, each autonomous country can be assigned a status of its own within international or regional organizations subject to the organization's agreement. The individual countries may conclude MOUs in areas in which they have autonomy, as long as these MOUs do not infringe on the foreign policy of the kingdom as a whole. The Kingdom extended the application to Aruba of the UN Drug Convention in 1999 and the UNTOC in 2007. A governor appointed by the King represents the kingdom on the island, and a Minister Plenipotentiary represents Aruba in the Kingdom Council of Ministers.

In June 2016, Aruba, Sint Maarten, the Netherlands, and Curacao signed an MOU with the United States to stimulate joint activities and enhance sharing of information in the areas of criminal investigation and upholding public order and security and to strengthen mutual cooperation in the areas of forensics and the organization of the criminal justice system. While the MOU is a broad-based attempt to improve all of the criminal justice system, one priority area is cracking down on money laundering operations.

VULNERABILITIES AND EXPECTED TYPOLOGIES

Aruba is not considered a regional financial center. Because of its location, Aruba is a transshipment point for drugs from South America bound for the United States and Europe, and for currency flowing in the opposite direction. Bulk cash smuggling represents a risk due to the location of Aruba between North and South America. Money laundering is primarily related to proceeds from illegal narcotics trafficked by criminal organizations and occurs through real estate purchases and international tax shelters. There is no significant black market for smuggled goods on Aruba.

The Free Zone Aruba NV (FZA) is a government-owned limited liability company which manages and develops the free zones. (Service companies also can set up business outside of the designated customs-controlled free zones.) All companies with free zone status are reviewed and controlled by the FZA, which also has an integrity system in place to deter illegal activities, including smuggling and money laundering. Financial services, banks, and insurance companies are not permitted to operate in the free zones. There are 13 casinos, and online gaming is allowed under a licensing and reporting system.

KEY AML LAWS AND REGULATIONS

KYC laws cover banks, life insurance companies and insurance brokers, money transfer companies, investment companies and brokers, factoring and leasing companies, trust and company service providers, car dealers, casinos, lawyers, civil notaries, accountants, tax advisors, realtors, and dealers in precious metals, stones, and other high-value objects.

The MLAT between the Kingdom of the Netherlands and the United States applies to Aruba and is regularly used by U.S. and Dutch law enforcement agencies for international drug trafficking and money laundering investigations.

The 1981 MLAT between the Kingdom of the Netherlands and the United States, rather than the U.S. - EU Agreement, which has not yet been extended to the Kingdom's Caribbean countries, applies to Aruba and is regularly used by U.S. and Aruban law enforcement agencies for international drug trafficking and money laundering investigations.

AML DEFICIENCIES

Aruba's money laundering laws do not cover proceeds generated from counterfeiting and piracy of products, insider trading, market manipulation, many types of environmental crimes, or fraud.

The Kingdom has not yet extended the application of the UNCAC to Aruba.

ENFORCEMENT/IMPLEMENTATION ISSUES AND COMMENTS

Aruba does not have a suspicious transaction reporting system but rather a broader unusual transaction reporting (UTR) system. Service providers are required to report large cash transactions of $14,000 or more, wire transactions of $279,000 or more, other unusual transactions, and transactions suspected to be related to money laundering.

Aruba enacted a State Ordinance for the Prevention of and Combating Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing (AML/CFT State Ordinance) with new rules for the identification and verification of clients and the reporting of unusual transactions to prevent and combat money laundering and terrorist financing when providing certain services. Non-regulated financial service providers (including investment brokers and factoring and leasing companies) and DNFBPs (including lawyers, civil notaries, tax advisors, accountants, jewelers, high-value goods dealers, and casinos) must also comply with the requirements of the AML/CFT State Ordinance and must register with the Central Bank of Aruba (CBA). The CBA continues to implement the recommendations of the AML/CFT National Risk Assessment conducted in 2012. In 2015, Aruban authorities supported the seizure of $4.4 million and several arrests in an international money laundering case.

Current Weaknesses in Government Legislation (2013 INCRS Comparative Tables):

According to the US State Department, Aruba does not conform with regard to the following government legislation: -

States Party to United Nations Convention Against Corruption - States party to the United Nations Convention against Corruption (UNCAC), or a territorial entity to which the application of the Convention has been extended by a party to the Convention.

Aruba is considered to be an Offshore Financial Centre

US State Dept Narcotics Report 2017 (introduction):

The Dutch Caribbean consists of the six entities of the former Netherlands Antilles: Aruba, Curacao, Sint Maarten, Bonaire, St. Eustatius, and Saba. In 2010, the Netherlands Antilles dissolved as a political unit. Curaçao and Sint Maarten acquired the same “autonomous country” status within the Kingdom of the Netherlands as Aruba, which became an autonomous entity in 1986. The three smallest islands, Bonaire, St. Eustatius and Saba, became part of the country of the Netherlands.

Aruba and Curacao are located 30 to 40 miles north of Venezuela and continue to serve as northbound transshipment points for cocaine originating from Colombia and Venezuela. Cocaine is primarily transported via fishing boats and inter-coastal freighters for transshipment to the United States, other Caribbean islands, Africa, and Europe. Sint Maarten, the Dutch half of the island of the same name (the French side is called Saint Martin), is located in the Eastern Caribbean and is a transshipment hub for cocaine, heroin, and marijuana destined for Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands as well as Europe.

Aruba’s police force, the Korps Politie Aruba (KPA), continues to evolve into a regional leader in the fight against narcotics trafficking and international criminal organizations. The KPA is at the forefront in collecting and sharing intelligence with regional law enforcement partners. Despite systemic problems of prison overcrowding and insufficient resources, the KPA continues to investigate trafficking organizations effectively. The Organized Crime Unit of the KPA conducted several successful investigations in 2016, which led to the seizure of over 1,130 kilograms (kg) of cocaine and 63 kg of marijuana and the arrest of multiple subjects.

US State Dept Trafficking in Persons Report 2014 (introduction):

Aruba is classified a Tier 2 country - a country whose government does not fully comply with the Trafficking Victims Protection Act’s minimum standards, but is making significant efforts to bring themselves into compliance with those standards.

Aruba* is a destination and source country for women and men subjected to sex trafficking and forced labor. Those at greatest risk continue to be foreign women in Aruba’s commercial sex trade, and foreign men and women in the service and construction industries. Specific at-risk communities include Chinese men and women working in supermarkets, Indian men in the jewelry sector, and Caribbean and South American women in domestic service. A 2013 international organization report identified Aruba’s regulated and unregulated prostitution sectors, domestic workers, and small retail shops as the groups and sectors most susceptible to trafficking. This report also noted some children may be vulnerable to trafficking, including children providing sexual favors and/or companionship for money and gifts; third-party prostitution of children under the age of 18 is a form of human trafficking. The report also noted a trafficking case involving an Aruban girl studying in the Netherlands and media reports of Aruban women allegedly subjected to debt bondage in the Netherlands.

The Government of Aruba does not fully comply with the minimum standards for the elimination of trafficking; however, it is making significant efforts to do so. The government made progress in its anti-trafficking law enforcement efforts in 2013 by convicting two trafficking offenders, marking the first convictions under Aruba's human trafficking statute. The government has yet to formalize standard operating procedures to guide all front-line responders in the proactive identification of trafficking victims and their referral for care; its approach to trafficking victim identification and protection remained ad hoc. The government did not initiate any new prosecutions during the reporting period.

Section 3 - Economy

Tourism and offshore banking are the mainstays of the small open Aruban economy. Tourist arrivals have rebounded strongly following a dip after the 11 September 2001 attacks. Tourism now accounts for over 80 % of economic activity. Over 1.5 million tourists per year visit Aruba, with 75% of those from the US. The rapid growth of the tourism sector has resulted in a substantial expansion of other activities. Construction continues to boom with hotel capacity five times the 1985 level. Aruba is heavily dependent on imports and is making efforts to expand exports to achieve a more desirable trade balance. Aruba weathered two major shocks in recent years: fallout from the global financial crisis, which had its largest impact on tourism, and the closure of its oil refinery in 2009. Economic recovery is progressing gradually, but output is still 12% below its pre-crisis level. Aruba's banking sector withstood the recession well, and unemployment has significantly decreased.

Banking

All credit institutions are subject to the stipulations laid down in the State Ordinance on the Supervision of the Credit System (SOSCS) which require all banks operating in or from Aruba to be licensed. The Central Bank of Aruba (CBA) is entrusted with the execution of this State Ordinance.

All four commercial banks operating in Aruba are also supervised on a consolidated basis by the Bank van de Nederlandse Antillen (the central bank of the Netherlands Antilles).

The supervision of credit institutions (primarily banks), insurance companies (life and non-life), money transfer companies and company pension funds has been given by various State Ordinances to the Central Bank of Aruba (CBA). As for credit institutions and insurance companies a licensing system is used with the CBA as the sole licensing and supervisory authority. Money transfer companies are subject to a registration system with subsequent supervision by the CBA. Credit institutions, insurance companies and money transfer companies may only act as such after authorisation from the CBA via licensing or registration respectively.
